Biography

Dr. Karin Humphries is an Associate Professor Emeritus in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of British Columbia and held the UBC-Heart and Stroke Foundation Professorship in Women's Cardiovascular Health for five years. Her background is in epidemiology and health services research. Her personal research focuses on sex and gender differences in the diagnosis, treatment, and outcomes of subjects with ischemic heart disease.

Dr. Humphries was also the Program Head of the Cardiovascular Health Program (ICVHealth) at the Centre for Health Evaluation & Outcome Sciences (CHEOS). In this role, she was able to focus on improving the quality of cardiovascular care by developing patient-centred and evidence-based approaches to treatment.
